

Mission statement

Tomori Pal College formulated its mission statement in line with the College's vision and strategic directions.

The College's vision is as follows.

„Tomori Pál College is the knowledge center of the southern districts of the capital, South Pest and South Buda, as well as the surrounding settlements, dormitories and southern-oriented agglomerations of the capital. With its practice-oriented training programs in Budapest and Kecskemét, in three scientific fields (economics, humanities and social sciences), aims to be present in the higher education market at national and international levels. The management of the College considers it particularly important to be able to contribute to the economic and social results of its educational catchment areas, primarily by providing qualified practical experts and educational and research capacity, and by satisfying the higher education-related needs of economic actors.”

The declared strategic directions of the College are as follows.

- ❖ Fine-tuning the training offer in accordance with the current labour market needs, based on trained, scientifically qualified instructors with educational and practical experience
- ❖ Exploiting the opportunities inherent in internationalization and strengthening competitive English-language training
- ❖ Launching dual training courses
- ❖ Improvement of R+D+I (Research, Development, Innovation)
- ❖ Launching shared training courses, joint majors, and research programs in cooperation with domestic and international higher education institutions
- ❖ Launching master's programs independently and/or with the involvement of domestic and international higher education partners, so that students who have already completed their bachelor's degree can also use other, higher-level educational services at the institution in addition to specialized further training.

Taking the above into account, the management of the College defined the institution's mission as follows.

The mission of Tomori Pál College is to

- ❖ be able to simultaneously comply with the institutional strategic and EU goals, as well as the requirements of ESG 2015 and the MSZ EN ISO 9001 quality management standard;

- ❖ launch higher education vocational training, bachelor's, master's and specialised postgraduate training programmes that provide marketable qualifications on the labour market, and to offer all this at a competitive price;
- ❖ students should be able to participate in trainings in Hungarian and foreign languages using online digital education solutions;
- ❖ provide students with access to the tools and methods and learning materials necessary for the application of online digital education solutions;
- ❖ seek contacts with higher education institutions and other socio-economic organisations in Hungary and abroad, and to establish and operate cooperation in order to achieve joint educational, training and research programmes and the objectives of its third mission;
- ❖ to play a role in national and international research programmes through which it is able to involve teachers, students and, if possible, other partners of the College in its R+D+I activities;
- ❖ establish, maintain and develop the organisational and infrastructural background capable of establishing and supporting educational activities, and providing the necessary staff and other resources for its activities.

Budapest, 26 May 2026.

Dr. Rózsa Mészlénny
President, Acting Rector